Gas Alarm Rattle

This is a hand-operated noise-maker used by Canadians and other members of the British Empire forces during the First World War. They were used to alert soldiers that poisonous gas was coming, and they should put on their gas masks.

Reproduction