

Air Raid Precautions Armband © Canadian War Museum

Air Raid Precautions Armband

These armbands identified Air Raid Precautions volunteers, men and women trained to help in the event of an enemy air attack. Early in the war, many Canadians feared such attacks, even though they were unlikely to happen. This was especially true on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Reproduction